lease. The Office of General Counsel is of the opinion that such commercial contracting on our behalf for this facility is in keeping with Federal law when the Director signs the certificate. Your signing of the Certificate of Necessity is in accordance with your statutory authority as set forth at 50 U.S.C.403(F(e)). The security requirements for the sensitive programs and covert contracts supported through this facility necessitate using your authority to lease this facility and to provide adequate alterations to maintain the proper security of this installation.

4. (S) Recommendation: It is recommended that you sign the Certificate of Necessity (Attachment #1) which will allow this Directorate to lease a new facility, to proceed with required alterations and vault construction and to provide desired physical and technical security precautions to protect our [REDACTED] industrial security facility

MEMORANDUM FOR: Deputy Director for Science and Technology

FROM: James H. McDonald
Director of Logistics

SUBJECT: Delegation of Authority to Lease Space

25X1A

REFERENCES:

1. (S) Under the provisions of the referent Headquarters Regulation, a Delegation of Authority is granted the Deputy Director for Science and Technology (DDS&T) and/or his designee to enter into a phase two contract with the [REDACTED] to sponsor the acquisition of office space as outlined in reference (a). All other provisions of the appropriate sections of the Headquarters Regulation are considered to be still in force.

3. (U/AIUO) There is one provision of the Headquarters Regulation [REDACTED] which cannot be delegated. This provision reads "Cost of alterations, improvements, and repairs to property leased by the Agency will be limited to 25 percent of the first year's rental. Annual rental costs of such leased property will be limited to 15 percent of fair market value. A deviation from these limitations will require a Certificate of Necessity from the Director of Central Intelligence."

4. (U) It is our understanding that the proposed annual rental of the space has been estimated at $70,000 and the estimated cost of vault construction alone to be

$80,000, which far exceeds the 25 percent limitation. We therefore suggest that once this space has been identified and a final construction alteration cost estimate has been derived, and, if such estimate is in excess of the limitation, that a Certificate of Necessity be prepared and submitted for the Director of Central Intelligence's signature.
